trail report showing $223,606.42). Staff explained that a stormwater correction of $223,606.42 represented a bookkeeping error where funds were incorrectly deposited into the general fund instead of the stormwater fund; because it was a administrative bookkeeping correction rather than a transfer, it did not require a reappropriation or approval from the finance committee and county council. The board also reviewed October expense audit trail items, noting that cleaning expenditures totaling $33,587.43 by Robert Young for Cowan Road had been previously approved at the October 5th meeting.
    - Item-Specific Public Input: None.
