2. Substantive Business & Board Action

00:00:03 Informational Overview: Muncie Police Department Training & New Drill House Facility

- Sponsor / Presenter: Muncie Police Department (Chief Nathan Sloan, SWAT Commander Jeff Peas, Sergeant David Porter, and Patrolman Matthew Holland).
 - Deliberation Summary:
 - Department leadership contrasted standard, minimal law enforcement training requirements (such as baseline state-mandated defensive tactics hours) with the current administration's enhanced training model.
 - Under Chief Nathan Sloan, average road officers now complete approximately 40 to 50 hours of training per year.
 - A core component of this enhanced curriculum takes place at a new drill/shoot house facility opened by the department within the past year.
 - The facility is versatile, featuring customizable room layouts, breach doors, and configurable environments designed to simulate residences, schools, offices, retail stores, and restaurants.
 - Trainers incorporate high-stress simulation tactics, including loud ambient noise, low-light/darkness drills, and long hallway navigation scenarios to prepare officers for active shooter responses and high-risk encounters.
 - Veteran officers, including Patrolman Matthew Holland, noted that the specialized and frequently refreshed skill sets taught at the facility represent a significant upgrade compared to baseline academy training received years prior.
 - Item-Specific Public Input: None recorded.
 - Action & Vote Disposition: Informational report only; no formal board vote or legislative action was conducted.

3. Administrative Updates & Adjournment

- Staff / Board Announcements: Chief Nathan Sloan noted that the department's dedicated training facility places the Muncie Police Department on par with or ahead of other major agencies in the state of Indiana, such as Indianapolis, regarding localized, realistic tactical simulation infrastructure.
 - Adjournment: The transcript concludes following remarks on street-simulation readiness; no formal meeting adjournment time was stated.
